

Review of the Educational program 7M01541 Chemistry
"My school"

Choosing a university is an important decision for everyone. This is because, even though the name is popular, there are many educational institutions with low quality of education. I chose Pavlodar Pedagogical University among many universities according to my chosen specialty. The current name of the university is Pavlodar Pedagogical University named after A. Margulan.

Currently, the university has 4 higher schools (faculties) and a college. Each high school is taught by highly specialized teachers and professors. Higher schools have their own place and history, one cannot replace the other. Graduates of higher schools are currently working in the education and other fields of the country. In addition, the college, together with the main faculties, serves the education sector of the country. The university works with foreign educational institutions. Every year, university students go to CIS and European countries on academic mobility to study for 1 semester and improve their knowledge.

If we analyze externally, my university has many advantages. One of them is a university dormitory. Dormitory is the most important thing for students to pay attention to after the quality of education. The university has 3 hostels, all of which are equipped with all the necessities for a comfortable living. Another advantage is the location of the university. These advantages strengthened my confidence in choosing this university.

I studied at the Pavlodar Pedagogical University named after A. Margulan for 6 years (bachelor's and master's degrees) from qualified specialists in their field. Student years are the most interesting, important, time full of warm memories and paving the way for the near future. I met many friends at the university. During 6 years, I had the opportunity to get acquainted with the history and features of Pavlodar, a beautiful, historical city of our country. I would like to thank my university for giving me such wonderful moments and bright memories. I confidently invite future graduates to study at my institution.

Master of Pedagogical Sciences

Graduated from A. Margulan University

Mukhambetalieva Zuhra