

REVIEW
on the Educational Program
"6B01610 Interactive History" for 2023-2027 years

Educational program "6D01610 Interactive History" is aimed at training bachelors in the specialty of history teacher (teacher of additional education on museum and excursion activities). I think this innovative educational program will be relevant and in demand in the Republic of Kazakhstan.

In the educational program an important place is taken by interactivity of students, development of their information-communication, professional competences. In the future, graduates of the program will be able to continue their studies in the master's degree on specialty "History" and in the future in doctoral studies on specialty "History".

The program includes disciplines devoted to museum and excursion activity. Graduates of the program will be able to work in the cultural sphere and carry out work in museums. This greatly expands the employment of graduates. The learning outcomes are justified and directly related to the competencies necessary for the future specialist.

A place is given to the development of ethno-tourism as an important innovative component of the training program.

The educational program "6B01610 Interactive History" is prepared at a high level taking into account the trends in the education system and can be used in the training of historians.

Deputy director of the Institute of History,
PhD, Professor at the University of Rzeszów, Poland

Paweł Korzeniowski

P. Korzeniowski